BOSTON TAKES FIRST GAME IN WORLD'S CHAMPIONSHIP SERIES

DRIVE BENDER FROM MOUND

BRAVES PLAY WITH SAME DASH AND BRILLIANCE THAT WON THEM PENNANT

FINAL SCORE 7 TO 1

Rudolph Pitching For Boston Didn't Allow Single Fly To Outfield Until Ninth

Special to The Times.

Shibe Park, Philadelphia, Oct. 9.—Playing with the same dash and brilliance that brought them from last place to the pennant, holding the Athletics' heaviest hitters at bay and landing on the ball until even the mighty Bender was forced from the box, the Boston Braves this afternoon overwhelmed the Athletics by the score of six to one and loom larger than ever as real contenders for the world's championship.

It was a day of bitter surprises for the Athletics and for their supporters among the 20,000 and more people who gathered in the stadium. For the first time in a world's series game, Connie Mack was forced to take a pitcher out, no less than Bender himself, Philadelphia's mainstay in the box. Boston pitched Rudolph and the dimiuntive national gave a splendid account of himself, holding Philadelphia to five hits and retiring the Athletics' best stickmen when hits meant runs. In the fielding department, Philadelphia had the better of it, but there were few flaws in Boston's defense and Rudolph's pitching covered whatever weakness may have existed.

Boston started her attack in the second inning when Whitted walked, Gowdy singled and Maranville brought both in with a two bagger. Philadelphia scored her only run in this inning on McInnis' walk, Strunk's single and Moran's error, the center fielder allowing the ball to go through his legs. In the fifth Boston increased her lead when Gowdy hit for three bases and scored on Maranville's single. It was in the sixth that the home fans faced real tragedy, however. Evers singled, Connelly walked and both scored when Whitted sent a mighty drive to a distant corner of the outfield. Then Schmidt singled. Then Connie Mack motioned Chief Bender to the bench and sent Wyckoff to the mound. Wyckoff was an improvement but did nothing brilliant.

So effectivel ydid Rudolph handle the situation that not until the ninth inning did a Boston outfielder catch a fly and there seemed to be no time when the little slabsman was not in control of the proceedings.

The same teams play here tomorrow and Stallings will probably use James in the box.

The Game By Innings.

Fully 23,000 fans were in the stands and bleachers long before the game started. During the morning the sky was overcast with clouds but shortly after noon the sun broke hazily through the curtain and made the outlook brighter. There was a sultiness in the October air that boded bad weather for tomorrow.

Philadelphia continued to rule the favorite in the betting, with odds at eight to five. Both managers started nearly their full string of pitchers and it was not until a short time before the contest opened that the slabsmen—Bender for the Athletics and Rudolph for the Braves—were announced. The umpires were assigned, Dineen taking the plate; Klem the bases; Hildebrand the right gardens and Bryan the left.

At 1:50 the crowd witnessed the ceremony of presenting Eddie Collins with a Chalmers car, received for being the most valuable player to his team. Shortly afterward Umpire Klem called play ball. Moran was first up for Boston and fouled the first ball that Bender delivered.

FIRST INNING.

Boston—Moran fouled out to McInnis. Johnny Evers came up amid applause from the Boston contingent of fans and sent a dinky pop fly to Eddie Collins who smothered it. Connelly struck out, retiring the side and the home fans cheered Bender loudly as he ran to the bench. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Philadelphia—Murphy was first up and let the first one go by for a strike, then singled neatly to center field, thereby duplicating his feat of previous world's series in which he nearly always led off with a hit. Oldring laid one down in front of the plate and Gowdy threw him out at first. Murphy advanced to second base. Eddie Collins bided his time and drew four wide ones, going to first. Baker stepped to the plate and was given a mighty ovation. His best was a grounder to first upon which he was thrown out, Murphy being doubled at third. The bunch from Boston expressed their joy wildly. No runs, one hit, no errors.

SECOND INNING

Boston—Whitted drew a base on balls. Schmidt fanned out. Gowdy singled sending Whitted to second. Maranville uncorked one for two bases, scoring Whitted and Deal. Deal send a grounder to second base, forcing Maranville at third. Two runs, two hits, no errors.

Philadelphia—McInnis let four go by and was walked. Strunk dropped a neat single into center field and McInnis who had a long lead off first, scored. Barry struck out. Schang drove one to second base and Strunk who had gone to third was thrown out at the plate. Moran's error in center field in retrieving Strunk's drive permitted the extra bases. Bender forced Schang at second. Maranville to Evers. One run, one hit, one error.

THIRD INNING

Boston—Rudolph fouled out to first base. Moran and Evers went out to first. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Philadelphia—Rudolph seemed to be going better and struck Murphy and Oldring out in classy style. Collins effort was a dinky grounder to Rudolph and he was thrown out at first. No runs, no hits, no errors.

FOURTH INNING.

Boston—Connelly opened Boston's half with a line drive to center for one base, only to be forced at second when Whitted hit one to Bender. Whitted was thrown out at first. Schmidt fouled out. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Philadelphia—Baker brought gloom to the home stands when he struck out, adding another to Rudolph's string. McInnis followed suit. Strunk singled to left field but was thrown out trying to steal second. No runs, one hit, no errors.

FIFTH INNING

Boston—Gowdy hit for three bases, Boston's lineup having been changed. Maranville singled scoring Gowdy. Deal was out on a pop-up to Bender, who doubled Maranville at first. One run, one hit, no errors.

Philadelphia—Barry flied out to short. Maranville making a very fancy stab. Schang struck out. Bender flied out to center field. Rudolph seemed to be in great form and the Boston contingent was more than hopeful. No runs, no hits, no errors.

SIXTH INNING.

Boston—Moran flied out to short, Barry making a pretty running catch. Evers slapped one to center field for a single and Boston's stock rose again when Connelly drew four balls. Whitted slammed a drive into right field for three sacks. Evers and Connelly tomped home while the Boston stands went into a delirium of joy which increased when Schmidt singled to left, scoring Whitted. At this juncture Mack pulled Bender out, sending Wyckoff into the box. Gowdy initiated Wyckoff by getting his base on balls. Maranville rolled one to Wykoff who threw to third to catch Schmidt. He was too slow and all hands were safe. Deal hit into a double that forced Gowdy at third, Baker throwing the batter out at first. Three runs, three hits, no errors.

Philadelphia—Murphy out, second to first. Oldring out, third to first. Collins was an easy out, Rudolph to Schmidt. No runs, no hits, no errors.

SEVENTH INNING.

Boston—Rodolph singled handsome over second base. Moran sent a grounder to third, forcing Rudolph at second. Evers struck out, Moran stealing second base on the third. Connelly went out on an easy grounder to first. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Philadelphia—Baker rolled a warm one to Evers who fumbled it long enough for Baker to reach first. McInnis was given a pass to first. Strunk went out to first on a grounder, Baker taking third and McInnis second. Barry drew three balls, then flanned out. Lapp made the last out, Rudolph to Schmidt and the home fans hopes for a rally went glimmering. No runs, no hits, one error.

EIGHTH INNING

Boston—Whitted was out on a pop fly to Baker. Schmidt landed for a single to left field and Gowdy followed with another of the same variety, sending Schmidt to third base. Maranville out. A double steal by Schmidt and Gowdy landed the former safe in home for Boston's seventh score. Gowdy was caught at third. One run, two hits, no errors.

Philadelphia—Wyckoff opened up with a two bagger to right field. Murphy went out, short to first, Wyckoff taking third on the play. Rudolph checked the athletics' hopes by striking Oldring out in nifty style. Eddie Collins sent a fly to left field that Connelly gathered safely in for the third out. No runs, one hit, no errors.

NINTH INNING.

Boston—Deal was an easy out, Baker to McInnis. Rudolph went down Barry to McInnis. Moran made the last out, Baker to McInnis. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Philadelphia—Baker brought some light into the gloom when he hit for two bases, the ball going to the right field fence. McInnis sent a hard one to Deal who made a wonderful stop and threw him out at first. Baker remained on second. Strunk sent a pop fly to second base and was out. Barry ended the agony with a grounder to short. No runs, one hit, no errors.

BIG DROP IN COTTON PRICES HERE TODAY

Offers Being Made On Basis of Six Cents For Middling—6 1-4 Cents at Dallas

By Associated Press

New Orleans, Oct. 9.—The continued slump in spot cotton prices in the interior and especially the drop of 5-16 at Dallas yesterday, caused an easy tone in the local cotton and January traded at 7:43, the lowest price since liquidation of contracts on account of the European war.

With Dallas quoting middling at 6 1-4 on sales of 16,054 bales local spot people were unable to hold up the price.

GERMANS CONCENTRATING NORTHWEST OF SWVALKI

By Associated Press.

Petrograd, via London, Oct. 9.—Russian observers of the campaign along the frontier express the opinion today that the Germans, who have been driven back in the last three days are concentrating in three defensive positions west and northwest of Suwalki in a desperate effort to hold Marggrabowo, which commands the line of communications in all directions, and the loss of which, it is argued here, would preclude further German activities in Russian Poland.

The Russian assaults, day and night, have shaken the German resistance at this important point. The enemy has withdrawn his forces from Bakalarzewo almost as far as Marggrabowo.

The capture of entrenchments at Przempysl is regarded here as the most important step up to the present time in the operation before that position.

GERMANS REPORT ATTACK ON INNER FORT LINE

Official Announcement Says Fort Dreenonk Has Been Taken

By Associated Press.

London, Oct. 9.—Last night's German official announcement says:

"From the western zone of war no facts of decisive importance can be mentioned. Small progress has been made near Mihiel and in the Argonne. Before Antwerp Fort Dreendonk has been taken and the attack on the inner fort line had begun. The bombardment of the quarter of the town lying behind this point was begun after a declaration of the commander of the stronghold that he took the responsibility.

"In the east the Russian column from Lomza in Russian Poland and has reached Lyck which is in East Prussia just beyond the frontier and almost directly west of Augustowo.

HOSTILE AVIATORS RAID TWO GERMAN BASES

Bomb Dropped On Roof of Zeppelin Station at Duesseldorff No Damage at Cologne

By Associated Press

London, Oct. 9.—The official communication of the German general staff, Oct. 8, says:

"The airships hall at Dusseldorff has been hit by a bomb thrown by a hostile aviator. The roof of the hall was pierced and the cover of an airship in the hall was demolished.

A Central News dispatch says the allies have made another aerial raid on Cologne and Dusseldorf, both important Zeppelin airship bases. The correspondent says the Dusseldorff shed was damaged but that no damage was done at Cologne.

DISCRIMINATION CHARGE WILL BE INVESTIGATED

I. C. C. Will Undertake Thorough Investigation of Pipe Line Operations

By Associated Press

Washington, Oct. 9.—An investigation into the production, transportation and marketing of crude petroleum was instituted today by the Interstate Commerce Commission. The cation was taken in compliance with a Senate resolution requesting the commission to make an investigation of the conditions of New York, Pennsylvania, Oklahoma, Ohio or elsewhere, "respecting oil production and trade, how, to what extent and by whom the oil market is controlled, financial inducements offered in th edevelopment of oil fields, operation of pipe lines, and when the charge is true that the same interests have operated the pipe lines and made the market bought the crude oil, refined it and fixed the price of the refined products."

The commission is also directed to ascertain whether any pipe line companies recently have stopped taking all or any part of the crude oil produced by independent operators.

Much of the information requested already is in the hands of the commission as a result of its hearings of the so-called pipe lines. The Senate particularly desires facts concerning the recent reported refusal of certain pipe lines to accept for transportation oil produced by independent operators. The commission expects to direct particular attention to that phase of the inquiry.

No dates have ben fixed for hearings and it is not expected that pending preliminary inquiry public hearing will be held before the first of the year.

NO CHANGE SAYS PARIS

CAVALRY OF BOTH ARMIES STILL OPERATING NORTH OF LILLE

BATTLE CONTINUES

Believed In Paris German Assault On Antwerp Presages Retreat to Belgium

By Associated Press

Paris, 3:06 p. m. Oct. 9.—The following official announcement was given out in Paris this afternoon:

"The general situation has undergone no change.

"On our left wing the two opposing bodies of cavalry are still operating north of Lille and Labasse and the battle continues along the line marked by the region of Lens, Arras, Bray-Sur-Somme, Chaulnes, Roye and Lassigny. On the center on Oise and on the Meuse only actions of minor importance have been reported. On our right in the Woevre district there has been an artillery contest along the entire front. In Lorraine in the Vosges and in Alsace there has been no change.

"In Bosnia Montenegrin troops have continued the advance in the direction of Sarajevo as far as the fortified line which protects the city, at a distance from it of 8 kilometers."

Most of the letters from the soldiers at the front speak of the great battle expected for the morrow that will decide the great struggle along the Aisne, and in the north, which shows that they, as well as the military critics, are baffled by the immense operations of which big battles here and there constitute mere details.

Heavy fighting occurs every day along some part of the battle line, the importance of which cannot be gathered from the sober details in the official statement, so it is impossible to assemble all the simultanous movements bearing on the general situation. As a consequence the reviews of the experts today resemble what they were yesterday and the day before. All agree, however, that the developments are favorable to the allies and all emphasize the advantage shown from splendid health and spirits shown by the army, which the war department is doing everything to maintain. While points of the greatest interest recently have been at the elbows of the battle one at Roye and on the extreme left, attention is called to the importance to the German retreating movement on the right [illegible] of the Meuse beyond Hatton C[illegible]tel which endangers their last posi[illegible] in the region of St. Mihiel. [illegible]s not considered possible that th[illegible]rmans can remain in this region [illegible] their retirement may entail a g[illegible]al retreat of the army operating [illegible]een the Meuse and the frontier.

The [illegible]stion is made in Paris that th[illegible]mans are holding out with the id[illegible] taking Antwerp first and then [illegible]g to a line of defense prepared [illegible] Belgium, as it is not possible for them to find reinforcement to counterbalance the fresh troops constantly coming to the allies.

The transfer of the seat of the Belgian government from Antwerp to Ostend was not made public in Paris until today but even the fall of Antwerp will scarcely shake confidence in the efforts of the allies to push the Germans back.

AUSTRIAN SUCCESSES IN BOSNIA ARE CLAIMED

Servians and Montenegrins Are Decisively Defeated Says Vienna Dispatch

By Associated Press

London, 1:10 p. m., Oct. 9.—The Austrian war office made the following announcement under date of October 8:

"To the already announced successes against the Montenegrin troops not is added a decisive blow against the Servians in Bosnia. At Visibgrad their northern column moving against Bajna and Basta already has been repulsed and driven across the Drina with the loss of their supply trains. The main Servian forces which advanced in Plana under command of the former minister of war were routed by our troops in an engagement which lasted two days and only escaped capture by hasty flight. One battalion was captured.

OKLAHOMA ALSO HAS FIRE PREVENTION DAY

By Associated Press

Oklahoma City, Okla., Oct. 9.—The necessity of preventing fires was urged upon Oklahomans today, this being "fire prevention day," by special proclamation of Governor Cruce. Realizing that debris and trash caused many fires, State School Superintendent Wilson supplemented the governor's proclamation by making this date also "school clean up day." Teachers were asked to see that the yards and buildings were cleaned. Methods of fire prevention thus will be stressed before the children as well as grown ups.

SKIES MADE RED WITH FLAMES FROM ANTWERP

By Associated Press.

London, 5:45 p. m., Oct. 9.—In a dispatch from Amsterdam filed at 12:46 this afternoon the correspondent of Reuters Telegram Co. says:

"The uninterrupted thundering of guns was heard at Rosendaal from Antwerp throughout the night. The fire slackened early this morning but it has now resumed with full violence. The sky last night was made red by the flames of burning Antwerp."

Rosendaal is about twenty miles north of Antwerp.

TYPHOID FEVER KILLS GERMANS

ENGLISH CORRESPONDENT SAYS FEVERED GERMANS DYING IN TRENCHES

CLAIMS BRITISH VICTORS

Fighting In Belgium and In France Almost One Series of Operations

By Associated Press

London, Oct. 9.—So far as England knows this morning Antwerp still is holding out. King Albert has withdrawn from the city toward Ostend but virtually the entire Belgian army has remained in the city to make determined resistance.

The nations opposing Germany hoped the defenders could hold out until the allies delivered some decisive blow along the battle lines in France which have almost reached the North Sea and taken into connection with the forces in Belgium makes a gigantic front like a spike half way across Belgium and across most of northeastern France.

Almost One Operation.

Although separate conflicts the siege of Antwerp and the battle of the Aisne are almost one series of operations and both Germans and allies are making the most desperate efforts to smash through the ever lengthening west wing. It is contended the Germans have failed in their great wedge through the allies left wing and the latest Paris communication say that the situation is stationary.

If Antwerp falls it will prove the ineffectiveness of fortification systems for Antwerp is the last word in impenious forts.

In East Prussia.

The situation in East Prussia is becoming like that of the battle of the Aisne. Driven from Poland the Germans are making a stubborn stand and with reinforcement from Konigsburg and will doubtless make another attempt to again invade Russia in this region. Roundabout dispatches to London from Petrograd say that a new Russian army has arrived at the frontier near Posen while another is marching toward Thorne. All reports of the surrender of Przemysl are premature, according to latest advices as are the reports of the beginning of a battle at Cracow.

Claim British Victors.

A correspondent of the Times writes: "The British victory on the river Aisne is complete. The Germans have evacuated their trenches leaving behind them many soldiers dying from typhoid fever. They left two of their biggest guns heavily cemented into its foundations.

"Two salient events mark the part of the fighting of which Soissons was the center. First, the capture by the allies of Fort Conde after a siege of 16 days and second the remarkable slaughter by the British in the last German attack. Wherever the Germans have dealt severe havoc to the allies around this position their success was due wholly to a spy system. The allies soon found that the Germans were able to diagnose their movement readily and instituted a systematic search for offenders. They captured seven spies, one a woman who used electric flash light signals from a window.

"It is not altogether true to say that the battle of the Aisne is over even now but in the past few days considerable areas have been destroyed by the Germans and great wedges of the allies' forces thrown forward.

SENATE MAY DELAY ADJOURNMENT

By Associated Press.

Austin, Texas, Oct. 9.—By unanimous consent the Senate today agreed not to push the adoption of the House concurrent resolution providing for adjournment at noon tomorrow until the bill by Senator Baile of DeWitt providing for certain amendments to the state banking laws has been passed in the House.

The House to-day under consideration the Cope bill providing for inspectors of cotton gins and cotton oil mills. This is the bill which applies to corporations.

ANTWERP BURNING UNDER BOMBARDMENT

GERMANS NOW ATTACKING INNER FORTS AND OUTLYING PARTS OF CITY

INHABITANTS ARE IN PANIC

Germans Throw Incendiary Bombs Into City—King Albert Has Left City

By Associated Press.

The Hague, Oct. 9.—The bombardment of Antwerp's inner forts and outlaying parts of the city is in progress this morning. At noon the city was burning in four places. It is reported that inner forts numbers 4 and 6 have been silenced. The exodus of panic inhabitants continues. It is reported panic stricken inhabitants continues. It is reported the dikes have been opened.

GERMANS FORCE POSITIONS THROUGH WEIGH OF NUMBERS

By Associated Press

London, Oct. 9.—Brueghant, a suburb of Antwerp, is burning according to a Berner dispatch. Another dispatch to Reuters dated Thursday says the Germans threw incendiary bombs with the result that many parts of Antwerp between the railway station and the place of justice are burning. A Taube aeroplane flew over Ostend Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The Central News correspondent under Thursday's date at Antwerp says:

"The German effort toward the north of France with a view of forcing wedge between the allies left wing has been nearly destroyed. Fierce fighting is occurring around Lille and south of Ghent. Prisoners have been taken to Dunkirk and Ostend and a German aeroplane has been captured near Ostend.

A Reuter Amsterdam dispatch dated today quotes a newspaper as saying that King Albert left Antwerp this morning and has arrived at a village near the Dutch frontier. The Daily Telegraph's correspondent under Wednesday's date says:

"The Germans today forces assage of the River Schedlt near Zeloegerde under cover of a heavy early morning fog. During the last few days the Germans have brought up large reinforcements. Previous attacks of the Germans on the river were all made under cover of violent artillery assaults which proved futile. After the last of those attacks Monday the Germans change d their tactics. Instead of advancing in force on the river positions they crept up during the night towards a riverside point further to the east. There the threw across a pontoon this morning and at six o'clock this morning about 600 Germans succeeded in crossing. The Belgian patrols immediately opened fire. The defenders were in small number and withdrew to the main Belgian line. Simultaneously the Germans commenced an action all along the river line. They met a vigorous defense and at one point were repulsed with a bayonet charge. They advanced with heavy reinforcements which the Belgian fire did not succeed in driving back. At half past one this afternoon a hotly contested battle was on all along the line.

"The rapid fire guns played a considerable part. Many of these guns used by the Belgians were drawn by dogs, several of which I saw lying wounded. Subsequently the Germans made desperate efforts to bring their artillery into position. This was thoroughly done but the Belgians another two guns were destroyed by shrapnel. After several hours fierce fighting the Germans received strong reinforcements."

AERIAL BOMBARDMENT OF ANTWERP LAST NIGHT

By Associated Press

London, Oct. 9.—The Evening Star's Antwerp correspondent says that eyewitnesses of the Zeppelin flight over Antwerp declare they saw a Zeppelin struck by a shell and fall to earth during the bombardment of Antwerp Thursday. It is estimated that shells fell at the rate of 20 a minute. In addition to the law courts building and the museum which were damaged by shells fire broke out at many points.

TEN MILE RULE ON PART TENTH STREET

CHIEF OF POLICE INSTRUCTED TO APPLY SPEED ORDINANCE ON LOWER END

COUNCIL RENDERS OPINION

Proposal of Paving Company For Surrender of Maintenance Bond Not Acted On

The city council laid aside its legislative functions for a short time last night and sat as a judicial body, deciding that the city police force shoulder consider Tenth street from the alley between Scott and Lamar to Michigan avenue (the Fort Worth & Denver tracks) as within the built up portion of the city mentioned in the speeding ordinance. The police were authorized to arrest persons driving at a higher rate of speed than ten miles an hour on that portion of Tenth street

The speeding ordinance describes the territory as extending along the alley between Scott and Lamar avenue to the intersection of Tenth street and thence along Tenth street to Michigan avenue It then refers for a more particular description to the fire limits ordinance which sets forth the territory by blocks and does not include Tenth street.

The question was brought up by Chief of Police Nall who asked for instructions He was told to make arrests of those driving at ten miles or more on the section of the street in question.

A request from a representative of the Pastors' Association for some measure to stop the excessive noises on Tenth street by autoists which disturb religious worship was laid over until the new traffic ordinance is taken up. This will be taken up at an early date

A letter was read from the Creosoted Wood Block Paving Company stating that the company desired to liquidate and offered a sum equal to one cent per sqare yard on all the pavement they had laid in Wichita Falls for discharge from their maintenance bond Several members expressed themselves adversely to acceptance of the offer and the matter went over for further consideration.

The Texas Wagon Yard on Indiana avenue was ordered to remove a crossing from the sidewalk into the yard which obstructed the gutter The city attorney was instructed to notify the Wichita Falls & Northwestern and the Wichita Ice Company to repair paving on Tenth street.

Councilman Gardner, chairman of the committee on public safety, announced that he was considering the erection of signs in the streets at the points where the ten mile speeding rule became effective. Other members of the council approved the proposal.

SOME WORLD'S SERIES NOTES AND OTHER BASEBALL DOPE

The best world's series contests were between the Giants and the Red Sox. They weren't the best in the quality of the play, not by a good deal, but there's more to baseball than cold, mechanical precision. The big slice after all is the human side, and in excitement, color, stirring interest, the predominance of the human equation, the Giants Red Sox scrapples were the best of all

Always in world's series games under the supervision of the National Commission the sportsmanship of the contestants has been of a high standard, not always above criticism, but high on the whole, and there is little doubt that the Athletics-Braves battles will be conducted on the same ethical plane That is more important than victory or deteat. Good sportsmanship and doing one's best are the main things There are those who count losing as the only crime, but this type of individual is in the minority. No team can be disgraced that does its best and plays the game fairly

McGraw and his Giants aren't in this year's world's series, but they have been in four and won one and that's considerable of a feat.

Griffith once had Connolly of the Braves and returned him to the minors. Which, as we take it, is not isolating Griff from other managers. If there's any manager in baseball who hasn't made similar mistakes he hasn't one of the frailties which beset mere humans.

Rube Marquard now has won two straights. he laziness of the season will prevent him from duplicating his nineteen straight.

Baseball history lacks one thing to make it complete It has had its triple plays unassisted, no hit games, double squeezes, triple steals and possibly six hits in one inning without a run, but when is it going to have a game with no hit pitching on each side"

Many Deeds Of Heroism Are Told In Stories Of Fighting In France

(Paris Correspondence of New York Sun.)

Deeds of heroism, each one of which would be told in columns under different circumstances, are related in a few lines in the daily papers, but the single column in which they are recorded is more eagerly and more anxiously scanned by all here than any other part of the news. Not even the progress of the allied armies is read with more interest than the fate of those whose names appear in the column where are listed the battlefield heroes, "Morts sur le champ d'honneur."

Here, in different order, regardless of rank, title or fame, appear many of the best known names of France, together with many others utterly unknown, who in a day have won fame that will never be forgotten; a general's name follows that of just a plain "soldat;" a Durand or Dupont precedes a Marquis or a Comte. But after the name come two or three lines explaining in as few words as possible just where and how these gallant fighters died, and these lines are read with glowing pride by every relative and friend of those who fell at the front.

A glance at random through the lists published so far reveals the name of General Plessier, fatally wounded at Altkirch while leading his troops in an attack on a strong German position. General Plessier died as General Meunier, military governor of Lyons, was pinning on his uniform the cross of Commander of the Legion of Honor. He was 58 years old.

Victorious General Killed.

General Charles Roques whose death was briefly announced in cable dispatches, was killed by a bullet which struck him in the forehead as he was conducting a desperate attack on the enemy near Virton. Only two days before he had been promoted on the battlefield to the command of a division, following a series of brilliant exploits.

Abbe Lavergne, vicar of the Church of Notre Dame du Travail in Paris, is the first of the 437 priests who left the capital forthe front to be killed the capital for the front to be killed infantry regiment which took part in the battle of the Marne.

Vicomte Roger de Ferre de Peroux, corporal of the 325th Regiment of Infantry and youngest member of one of the best known families of France, was killed by a bullet in his left eye while storming a trench at Nomeny, near Nancy. Although having been exempted from military service, he had insisted on being sent to the front.

Mme. Adrienne Buhet, mother superior of the Daes du Sacre-Coeur, whose death has been announced by cable, was killed as she was bringing first aid to the wounded on the battlefield. She was 75 years old.

Captain Maturier and Lieutenant Kullimann of the 115th Regiment of Infantry were killed in the battle of the Aisne. Lieutenant Kullimann had promised his captain that should the latter be killed the lieutenant would carry to Matarier's wife a letter the captain carried in his breast pocket. Mautrier was among the first to fall.

Fulfils Promise, Struck.

The regiment's attack of a strong German position failed, and while retreat was still possible Lieutenant Kullimann stopped to fulfill his promise. As he was stooping over the body of his comrade he, too, was killed by a German bullet.

Dr. Pignerol of Chaumont, who had volunteered to assist the wounded in an improvised hospital at Sompuis, near Vitryle-Francois, was killed by a German shell which completely wrecked the house.

Captain Jean Chadebec de Levalade of the 103d Regiment of Infantry catured a redoubt with a handful of men and was killed by one of the fleeing Germans.

Adjutant Henry Gueneau de Mussy, grandson of General Sere de Rivieres, who built the fortifications of Paris, was fatally wounded at the battle of Charleroi as his troops were retreating before a superior hostile force. He refused, however, to permit his men to stop long enough to carry him to a place of safety and was picked up later dead.

Abe Fumey, vicar of Saint-Rambert (Ain), Sub-Lieutenant of the 223d Infantry Regiment, was killed in a successful attempt to carry the colors of his regiment back into the French lines.

Handling Of Milk Where There Is Contagious Disease

(From U. S department of agriculture's weekly letter to crop correspondents.

Every family which has a member ill with typhoid fever, scarlet fever or other contagious disease, is entitled to the sympathy and intelligent help of the community. At the same time, the stricken family should realize fully that simple good citizenship calls upon its members to do everything in their power to prevent the spread of the contagion to neighbors In the country especially, where there are seldom health officers to impose rigid quarantines, the duty of keeping the sick separated from the well falls with peculiar weight on the afflicted family. Ordinary neighborliness demands that such a family keep its members away from others and prevent outsiders from coming in contact with the infection.

On a farm producing and selling milk, a contagious disease such as typhoid or scarlet fever demands special precautions. A very few germs of these diseases allowed to get into the milk may multiply rapidly and be a source of disease in many families on the milk route served by the farmer

In the case of typhoid, the disease may come from germs in the well water, and this water if used unboiled for cleansing milk bottles or cans may very well start a typhoid epidemic in a neighboring town In spectors have frequently traced outbreaks of scarlet fever and typhoid along a milk route and back to a sick person on the producer's farm

It is the duty of every milk farmer to see that no one who is suffering from fever of any kind ever enters the dairy Moreover, no one engaged in nursing the sick should ever be allowed to go near milk Those who handle the milk on such farms, even though they never have been near the person who is sick, should take special precautions Before entering the milk room they should put on a clean cap and a clean duster, which are never allowed to go into the house. In cases of typhoid or suspected typhoid all water used in cleansink milk vessels should first be boiled Finally, even with all these precautions, wherever typhoid or scarlet fever is even suspected in a family, the milk should be thoroughly pasteurized before being sold

The milk producer who takes these precautions establishes his good citizenship. The one who handles milk carelessly with sickness in his family is, though he may not realize it, a possible enemy to his customers Such precautions are doubly necessary where the owner of the farm is the sufferer, because the milk is apt to be handled carelessly for lack of his supervision Inspectors recently followed up a case of bad milk found the owner of the farm sick with a bad case of typhoid fever He gave his illness as a reason for his not being prosecuted because the low quality of the milk was due directly to its handling by inexperienced persons Investigation proved that the farmer's illness was one of a succession of cases of typhoid that had occurred on this farm The probability, therefore, was that the milk being sent out before the farmer was sick was dangerously contaminated, while, of course, the risk after illness had withdrawn his attention was vastly increased.

In many cases where an outbreak of typhoid has been traced back to a dairy the owner was not deliberately careless. Typhoid fever is not always readily recognized as such, and not uncommonly passes simply as a fever or bowel complaint For this reason every case of fever on a dairy farm should be regarded with suspicion and lead to very careful handling of the milk

Members of householders in which there are contagious or suspicious illnesses also have an important part to play in keeping the milk supply clean They should never return empty milk bottles without first boiling them, and any family which takes a pubilc milk bottle into a room where there is a contagious disease is really a party to a serious offense against public health. A milk dealer who learns of a case of sickness in a family should keep the bottles from that house separated from the others and make certain that they are very carefully sterilized before they are again used for milk

Even where there is no sickness on a farm, the dairy farmer should use every effort to produce a high grade clean milk from healthy cows Sterilizatio nof bottles and other milk vessels is essential

GERMAN WRITES OF CAMPAIGN IN FRANCE

HARDSHIPS OF FIELD DUTY ARE TOLD IN LETTER TO MOTHER

DIFFICULTY IN OBTAINING FOOD

Finds French Peasants Are Too Much Afraid of Germans To Cause Any Trouble

Rotterdam, Sept. 19.—(By mail)—The following letter of a reserve officer to his mother, published in the Cologne Gazette on September 16, throws an illuminating light on subsistence conditions in the German forces now in France. It is instructive also in a number of other respects:

"It is a hot morning, the men are busy digging trenches, and now the crash of artillery which kept up all morning is no longer ehard. I am sitting under a tree, reading again and again your dear letter and the remainder of my mail. Indeed, dear mother, if it could be done I would telegraph you every day. But that is impossible; so now, while I have the time, I will write you as long a letter as possible. One never knows what the future will bring.

"This is a very idyllic spot. I am disturbed now and then in a most agreeable manner Ripe plums fall from the tree—most conscientiously I eat them I have breakfasted well and the company barber gave me a shave—which was needed badly. In dadition I have managed to get some washing done, and now I feel again like a gentleman

"As I already told you the commissary officer of our battalion and I went to the same college. I have been obliged to pay for this happy coincidence with many a bite I needed myself. But yesterday he told me that he had managed to get two honest to goodness, real and otherwise bona fide hams I lost no time accepting my share—it was fine and will last until tonight To the great surprise of the captain I managed to get one-eighth of a pound of butter from a farm. Commissary bread, ham and butter—what a Lucullan feast I had last night But there is nothing to smoke Kindly send me a few cigarettes and some pipe tobacco.

Says Populace Afraid.

"The owner of the farm where I got the tobacco is a woman; thirty-two years old and rather wealthy She left the place, not because she feared the Germans, but the French as her manager told me I wish these people had sense enough to remain on their farms. We do them no injury and pay for everything we take, while the property of those who run away is naturally without owner and thus not protected

"There is no evidence here of volkskrieg (war carried on by the population as in Belgium) The people are rather afraid and do everything to get along with us Everything is upside down nowadays, dear mother, Master alone is the soldier, right and wrong are matters which are rules on, all power and responsibility has been placed on his shoulders. I thank God that our hands are clean and that our officers' conduct is beyond criticism 'In — — I asked a woman whether she had a complaint to make against our soldiers, and she said 'No, the German soldiers are good lads'

"But with this the burning of villages has nothing to do Most of them are set afire by artillery fire hells, and when they are burned down purposely, it is done because the inhabitants have fired upon our soldiers In the villages of ——— and ——— no stone remained in place Some of our hussars entered them and were treacherously shot down The example has brought good results We regretted that we had to do it, and now that the people have been brought to their senses, further measures of that sort have been prohibited

Hate English Most.

"In the village of ——— I saw an old man sit in a house which had been destroyed. In front of him stood a venerable gray, old man, the priest, who surveyed the remnant of his congregation with sorrow I entered the village at the head of two battalions, and when the old priest saw me he looked at me in a way that cut into my very soul Then with the sudden motion of fear he took off his hat and held it in his hand until the last man had passed him I think he feared that a refusal to greet us would be taken as an offense What went on in the mind of the old priest would be interesting to know But this is war, and we did not want the indescribable misery which it has brought on.

"Last night at roll call we heard the news of the German victory over the English, French and Belgians We especially appreciated the news concerning the English Our hate for those perfidious fellows is universal and much greater than our feeling against the French Everybody wants a chance to get at them, and God have mercy on them should they get before our rifles from us they need expect none.

"At seven in the evening we heard the news of the Russian defeat. I hope that the good tidings will be confirmed We are advancing everywhere

"It is a beautiful evening and I will have to do field duty tonight The entire village had prepared itself for defense, but in the last moment they lost heart Just now the brought in a French soldier who has been in hiding five days in a chicken house

"At my side the captain is cutting up a cucumber oil and vinegar have been secured after a long search"

Tells of Hardships.

While the officer is on outpost duty he continues the letter

"Well, I am out in the field. In front of us the territory occupied by the enemy War is a terrible thing. This noon while I was inspecting the outposts, five French chasseurs on patrol work advanced towards our position We were in the woods. Fire was opened on them at 200 meters I regretted having to give the command The officer, 26 years old and married two days before the mobilization, as I learned afterwards, was killed The others were wounded and taken prisoners We did not aim at the horses they and the saddles are first class and now five of us will ride To have to do that sort of thing is distressing, but what is to be done

"I have received mail twice so far and every time the post arrives I imagine there must be something for me What has become of the letters? We are here far from human old have no tents and are not permitted to make a fire My meals so far have consisted of dry bread and I feared that my supper would be again dry bread, but oh, joy, one of my men arrives with a tremendous slab of bacon which he has found somewhere My orderly has managed to get a few onion and we have succeeded in saltering six cigarettes what a glorious supper

"The field kitchens are a fine institution We officers get our food from them together with the men and I will say that usually it is quite tasty and always well cooked You would appreciate the field kitchen if for three weeks you had been obliged to eat the stuff cooked on a field fire.

"Tonight there will be no sleeping, and I wish morning were here. All's well Thousand kisses—Otto."

There is a note on the following day

"It was terribly cold last night in the ditch along the highway

"A thousand kisses.—Thy loyal son."

THE JOY OF PRETENSE.

Let's dream like a child in its playing,
Let's make us a sky and a sea,
Let's change the things 'round us by saying
They're things as we wish them to be,
And if there is sadness or sorrow
Let's dream till we charm it away.
Let's learn from the children and borrow
A saying from childhood, "Let's play!"

Let's play the world's full of beauty;
Let's play there are roses in bloom;
Let's play there is pleasure in duty,
And light where we thought there was gloom;
Let's play that the heart with its sorrow
Is bidden be joyous and glad.
Let's play that we'll find on the morrow
The joys that we never have had.

Let's play that we have done with repining,
Let's play that our longings are still,
Let's play that the sunlight is shining
To gild the green slope of the hill.
Let's play there are birds blithely flinging
Their songs of delight on the air;
Let's play that the world's full of singing;
Let's play there is love everywhere

ON THE FIRING LINE

What It Means to Most Men

There are many true heroes that have perished in the European war who 'never smelled powder,' but who succumbed to sickness after hard campaigning, coupled with bad water and lack of food The sick and debilitated man is as much out of place in his struggle for life and existence as he would be on the firing line On the other hand the strong vigorous man, his veins filled with rich, red blood, has an enormous advantage in whatever position he may be fated to occupy, in war or business

The prompt and certain action of Dr Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in driving all harmful germs and impurities from the blood, sets in motion the repair process which works actively on the diseased membrane where catarrh flourishes unchecked or where the skin gives warning of the bad blood beneath; by showing pimples and boils, also the skin clears up and becomes wholesome and ruddy

Thus by building up a new and perfect covering and carrying out of the system the catarrh infested matter by way of the blood, liver and kidneys, catarrh is overcome and permanently conquered

There is not a drop of alcohol or any narcotic in Dr Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, but in this safe vegetable remedy there is a mighty alterative power which by replacing the blood impurities with pure, rich blood, not only ends catarrhal conditions wherever located, but vitalizes the kidneys stomach, liver, bowels and every organ of the body. People who suffer humiliation and mental misery because of pimples, skin rash blotches, eruptions, boils, carbuncles, are especially benefitted. It is not a secret remedy but its ingredients are printed on wrapper

All dealers in medicines can supply Dr Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery or send 50 cents in one cents stamps to Dr Pierce, Invalid's Hotel Buffalo, N Y, for trial box of tablets. (Advt)

ON THE FIRST OF SERIES "HESITATION TEAS" SATURDAY

The first of a series of 'Hesitation Teas' will be given Saturday afternoon by E O Tyler at his hall 812½ Ohio This is the first introduction of that popular form of amusement which found so much favor in the larger cities in the East last season in this city and is expected to prove quite popular The 'dansant' originated in the salons of Paris and takes the name of the dance most favored at the moment. Last winter the tango was the inspiration of the 'tango teas' which were among the most popular diversions A little concerning the customs observed at these teas may not be amiss The proper attire may be a handsome afternoon frock of cloth or silk or a coat suit if it be not too plain The ladies come either separately or in groups and meet their escorts at the hall For those who do not care to dance tables for forty two will be arranged where one may sit and look on while enjoying the tea and the music The punch for these teas will be in the charge of Miss Florence Sammons and E B Stonecipher The hesitation waltz as danced by the Castles will be demonstrated by Mr Tyler Saturday Mesdames Inge, Sammons and Fontaine will act as patronesses at this tea

Mrs E J McDill of Spokane, Wash, arrived yesterday and will spend the winter in this city the guest of her daughter Mrs J E Anderson

Division No 5 of the Baptist Women's Alliance will meet with Mrs L W Cundiff, 1315 Fourteenth street Monday at 3 p m.

CORPORATIONS MUST FILE LABOR REPORTS AT ONCE

Austin, Texas, Oct 9 - After tomorrow, all corporations in Texas employing five or more persons that have failed to file with the State commissioner of labor a complete statistical report of their operations are to be penalized according to announcement by Commissioner of Labor, Starling The law requires that these corporations file reports within sixty days after blanks were sent them by the department Official blanks were sent out between August 1 and 10 according to the commissioner The information given in the blanks is needed by the commissioner for his report to the governor Of 5,000 corporations required to make these reports, about forty per cent have failed to do so.

WISHED SHE COULD DIE

And Be Free From Her Troubles, but Finds Better Way.

Columbia, Tenn.—"Many a time," says Mrs. Jessie Sharp, of this place, "I wished I would die and be relieved of my suffering, from womanly troubles. I could not get up, without pulling at something to help me, and stayed in bed most of the time. I could not do my housework.

The least amount of work tired me out. My head would swim, and I would tremble for an hour or more. Finally, I took Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I am not bothered with pains any more, and I don't have to go to bed. In fact, I am sound and well of all my troubles."

Cardui goes to all the weak spots and helps to make them strong. It acts with nature—not against her. It is for the tired, nervous, irritable women, who feel as if everything were wrong, and need something to quiet their nerves and strengthen the worn-out system.

If you are a woman, suffering from any of the numerous symptoms of womanly trouble, take Cardui. It will help you. At all druggists.

ED HOWARD, Manager

The National Feeders and Breeders Show opens at Fort Worth tomorrow October 10th. The people of this section of Texas doubtless will attend in large numbers. There is money in stock raising and there is no country on earth better adapted to stock farming than this.

A flag pole 222 feet in length was hoisted the other day before the St. Louis of Oregon at the Panama Pacific Exposition. The pole is the tallest in the United States and is in one solid piece. It was contributed by the citizens of Astoria, Oregon.

The Corporation Commission of Oklahoma has prohibited the shooting of oil wells. The reason for shooting oil wells is that it is done for the purpose of causing them to produce more oil, and just at this time Oklahoma oil fields seem to be producing more oil without "shooting" wells than there is a reasonable demand or market for.

Geo. Davis living near Brownwood realized $1,000 from one acre of tomatoes this season. That is not all, either. An East Texas farmer realized from one half acre planted to sweet potatoes the neat sum of $150. But there is danger of raising too many tomatoes and potatoes. The better plan is to diversify—raise a little of everything that the soil will produce and for which there is a market price. It beats this plan of raising all cotton and then having to sell the cotton for less than the cost of production.

Judicial history repeats itself for the first time in this country since the trial of Aaron Burr for treason in the instance of Justice William R. Day of the supreme court of the United States presiding over a lower federal court in the trying of a case at Cincinnati Tuesday. Justice Day took a place on the bench of the circuit court for that district with Judge Sanford of Tennessee and Cochran of Kentucky to hear arguments on the appeal of John H. Patterson, president, and other officers of Patterson of the National Cash Register company convicted of violating the Sherman anti-trust law. Patterson it will be remembered, originally distinguished himself by his untiring energy and unstained philanthropy in affording relief to the Dayton, Ohio, flood sufferers and his hosts of friends throughout the country include in the hope that he will present a warm case in his present trial.—Dallas News.

The Vernon Record is using the rack on the top of its office this week. Talk of hard times and bad business and what the Record says of conditions in Wilbarger county apply to every county in the state. The Record says there will be 4,000 bales of cotton this year and even if the average price to be obtained for it does not go above seven cents, together with the large wheat, corn and hay crops that were produced in the county this year, the farmers of that county will have about $1,570,000 more money this year than they realized from the same crops in the year 1913. With that much money turned loose (mind you we say turned loose and not hoarded) there will be absolutely no excuse for the complaint of hard times in that county. The principal thing that produces hard times is when nothing is produced. With an abundance of everything that the farm and ranch can produce there is little excuse for hard times, but all it takes to bring about such a condition is for the people to become panicky and begin to hoard money. This time however the people are hardly to blame. The bankers and money lenders were the first to become scared. The people then followed the lead of the bankers and are freezing tight to every dollar they can get their hands on as if it was the last and only dollar in existence. That is why there is so little trading and exchange of dollars.

DEFENDING THE FARMER.

Editor Times:

I want to say something nice about the way your paper views the farmers' problems. On the question of passing a law regulating the planting of cotton the farmers appreciate the fact that you give them credit for having sense enough to handle the situation. A law of this kind would be as foolish as a resolution by a young men's association of a neighboring city to pass a law prohibiting the use of narrow tire wagons on the public roads.

I think the buy a bale movement is to be commended and I was disappointed when leading Fort Worth men advised us to sell our cotton at the market prices right at the time the buy a bale move was showing its effects. But while cotton is about seven cents one of our traveling salesmen says if we will not hold what rightfully belongs to the merchants etc. that business will be largely restored. The writer, Mr. Chatterton, gave his view in last Friday's paper showing the stress of the traveling man. I would like to give my view.

The average farmer is not on Easy street from 10 cents received from a bale of cotton. I believe the farmers are meeting their debts as best they can. Cotton brings about $5 a bale. They pay one-fourth cent which is $5.75. It costs him $12 to get it picked and $4 to get it ginned. This leaves him $19.25 a bale to meet his debts. Many farmers who depend upon cotton will get say ten bales. That is only about $190 to live on and meet his obligations. And if the farmers dumped their cotton on the market it would still lower the price and the farmer can't afford to slap the man who has helped by buying a bale at 10 cents by glutting the market. Better pay high interest on cotton and meet debts with money borrowed on it. It's pretty hard for a farmer to work all year on a field of cotton raise a fine crop, give it away and borrow money to live on another year.

My occupation of farming suits me. Where I worry is when I am forced to work and am poorly paid. It is not half so discouraging to be laid off temporarily as it is to be forced to work full time and have your salary cut to nearly nothing.

Mr. Travelling Man, which will help you the most, dump all our cotton on the market force the price to $27 per bale and lower or aid that patriotic buy a bale move by holding some of it to supply the demand and get a better price? Cheer up, old boy, the other fellows vocation is not as smooth sailing as it might seem.

Respectfully,
YOUNG FARMER

WAR DIVIDES ROYALTIES

(From the New York Times.)

No result of the war in Europe is stranger than the manner in which it so clearly divides almost all the royal families, who are practically one big family, into friend and foe.

Emperor William opposes his first cousin, King George of England. The Emperor's nephew, the young duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, although bearing a German name and taking rank as a German prince, has resigned his present throne when he was a boy at Hampton Court, ultimately is fighting for Germany. If the dukes of Albany, nephew of the duchess of Albany, has organized well in England.

The duke of Brunswick, nephew of Queen Alexandra, has taken up arms for Germany, while his two aunts, the dowager empress of Russia and Queen Alexandra, are in sympathy with the allies. Prince Arthur of Connaught is expected to go on active service for England, while his second cousin, the crown prince of Germany, leads an army corps.

Prince Albert of Schleswig-Holstein, the grandson of Queen Victoria and son of Prince and Princess Christian, has been a major in the Prussian army, with an address at Potsdam, hitherto, but now he has joined the British army.

If Greece is drawn into the conflict the Kaiser's sister, the queen of Greece, will find herself on the opposite side of many of her relatives.

The Connaught family have distracting sympathies. The duchess of Connaught was a German princess. Her eldest daughter is a crown princess of Sweden, a country remaining neutral but credited with pro-German feelings. The other daughter, Princess Patricia, is stirring enthusiasm for the British cause in Canada. The czarina is a granddaughter of Queen Victoria and first cousin of King George, but some of her near relatives are fighting for Germany.

Queen Mary and her brother have close links of family relationship with Austria through the late duke of Teck, but the present duke and his brother are officers in the British army.

The popular Austrian ambassador in London until the war began, Count Mensdorff, a second cousin of King George. He was more at home in England where he had been for many years than elsewhere.

The duchess of Cumberland is a sister of Queen Alexandra and the dowager empress of Russia, while her son is heart and soul for Germany.

Spain is neutral but did not prevent Queen Ena from sending $2,500 to the Prince of Wales fund. She is a daughter of Admiral Prince Henry of Battenberg of the British navy and a second cousin of the Prince of Wales.

Denmark, Norway and Holland are likewise neutral but relatives at all these courts are at the front. The queen of Norway is a sister of King George. She has already placed part of her Norfolk home at the disposal of the hospitable authorities. The Danish king and queen and various princes and princesses have been so recently visiting their British relatives that they must have intense interest in the war.

The ex-king of Portugal has offered his services to King George, though his wife's relations are on the side of Germany.

TRIBUTE PAID GERMANS BY AMERICAN IN EUROPE

Declares English Are To Blame and Have Acted Wrongly In Present Struggle

New York, Oct. 7.—The following letter has been sent to the Sun with the note that it is from an American citizen born in this country:

Duesseldorf, Aug. 27, 1914.—I have just received your article in the American papers. Good for you. It takes a great load off my mind because I feared you would be influenced by the other side. The way you express is very fine. Ida will translate it for the papers here, mentioning you of course as my brother. It will make a deep impression as the opinion of an impartial man of position in America. Yes, it is the Kaiser is at fault in any way, he tried to preserve peace at any cost too long, but as matters now look he was right for the organization of the German army lacked a few details such as the new field artillery, which is proving itself far superior to the French, Belgian, Russian and English.

Things are going wonderfully well for Germany, the big French armies are being beaten at every point and are in full retreat already, the English have been licked easily and are being enclosed and surrounded near Maubeuge, we hope they will be forced to surrender soon. A Zeppelin stationed here runs over to Belgium almost every night throwing bombs over Antwerp etc., already having caused serious fires there, and an awful panic. It was not but my once by the dirigibles of the enemy. There are thirty such terrible airships ready for work and the sweet English will see wonders soon—as soon as Antwerp falls, the latter town is already be[illegible] the awful new Krupp guns. 42 centimetres—have destroyed the best forts of Liege and Namur with a single shot. I saw a photo of one—terrible.

England will be sorry for the cowardly way she has acted. The English people are behind me. As you say they are being the worst enemies, jealousy of Germany's commercial success prompted an ignorant incapable government to act against its own race. Believe me there will be an awful reckoning for Germany will not stop halfway this time. You will read of German atrocities in Belgium. The Belgian populace simply blame themselves as yesterday at Louvain where a procession and every man, woman and child of that town which had been quietly occupied by German troops for a week suddenly fired from every window, cellar etc. on the Germans killing and wounding many. The result was awful, no vestige of that large town is remaining and most of the citizens paid with their lives for the treachery. Belgium will now be trampled into the mire and France also if they act likewise.

I grip your hand my dear boy. I shall never forget that you had the manliness to speak up so well in this cause. I hope my many letters will reach you via either Rotterdam or Copenhagen. I see now English seize all letters for Germany even on neutral ships "the dirty hounds."

LITTLE INCREASE IN WHEAT ACREAGE POSSIBLE HERE

There will not be any decided increase in the acreage planted to wheat in this county this fall, according to T. W. Campbell, district agricultural agent. Mr. Campbell says that while a number of farmers wanted to plant more wheat this year they will probably not be able to clear their land of cotton or feed crops in time to do wheat planting. Both cotton and feed crops are unusually heavy and will prevent farmers getting the land cleared.

Mr. Campbell says that there are a number of farmers in the northern part of this county that will make three quarters of a bale of cotton this year and some that will average a bale to the acre.

Farmers will increase their wheat acreage wherever possible this year, the prospects of continued strife in Europe making it almost certain that the price will remain high next year.

Market Reports

Cotton dropped again late yesterday evening and today buyers were offering only six cents, middling. Basis Dealers here report that while little cotton was offered here at that price a considerable quantity was bought at that figure today in this territory.

Chicago Grain Futures

Chicago, Oct. 9.—Expected falling off in receipts at primary points created a bullish effect today on wheat, the opening 1-8 to 5-8 lower, the market rose well above last night's level. Assertions that wheat price advance had checked the export demand lent strength later a decided rebuff.

Corn trade was restricted. The opening, which ranged from unchanged to one quarter off, was followed by a moderate general advance. Some export inquiry helped to make out firmness.

Closing prices: Wheat, December 1.09-3/8, May 1.15. Corn, December .67, May .69-7/8. Oats, Dec. .47-7/8, May .54.

Fort Worth Live Stock

Fort Worth, Oct. 9.—Cattle receipts 3600, active. Beeves $5.25 to $7.10. Hog receipts 1,000, higher. Bulk $7.50 to $7.75.

Kansas City Cash Grain

Kansas City, Oct. 9.—Wheat, No. 2 hard $1.00 to $1.01-1/2. No. 2 red 1.00 to 1.00-1/2.

Dallas Spot Cotton

Dallas, Oct. 9.—New Records for 1914 were reached here today when spot cotton dropped to 6-1/4 on sales of 16,064 bales. Cotton men declared this was the lowest price for spot cotton paid here since 1895.

GEOGRAPHIC SOCIETY'S WAR PRIMER

Bapaume.—A small town of northern France 17 miles south of southeast of Arras and 27 miles northwest of St. Quentin, the scene of the great battle of January 3, 1871, as a result of which the Germans fell back behind the Somme. The town also figures in the peace of the Pyrenees in 1659, which it was ceded to Louis XIV by his father Louis XIII. The son, just turned 21, had been strongly attracted to one of the nieces of Cardinal Mazarin, by the peace of the Pyrenees it was agreed that the new friendship with Spain should be cemented by the marriage of Louis to his second cousin, Infanta Maria Theresa. The marriage took place at once. Bapaume is an artillery station, possessing considerable strength. It has extensive cambric, calico, thread and sugar factories and spinning mills. Surrounding district is extremely fertile. A single fountain affording its chief water supply. The town's population of about [illegible] has varied perceptibly for more than half a century.

Beaumont. A picturesque town of northern France near the left bank of the Meuse, 12 miles east or south of the famous battlefield of Sedan and the same distance from the Belgian border. It was here on the 9th of August 1870 that 3,000 men under General Douay guarded the passage of the Meuse but were defeated and captured by the Saxon troops. The French columns, yielding to the force of numbers combined with superior moral were driven upon Sedan and during the next day the retreat practically became a rout. On Sept. 1 the French were crowded around the little fortress of Sedan and by noon were completely invested. The hoist of the white flag at about 6 o'clock in the afternoon.

Netley. A village in England three miles southeast of Southampton on the east shore of Southampton Water. Henry III founded a Cistercian Abbey here in 1[illegible] and its extensive ruins are the chief point of interest in the town. The gatehouse was transformed into a fort at the time of Henry VIII. Netley hospital for wounded soldiers one mile south east of the Abbey was built in 1856 after the Crimean war. It is the principal military hospital in Great Britain giving accommodations for upwards of 1,000 patients.

Torquay. A town in England on Tor Bay of the English Channel 26 miles south of Exeter. Its principal reputation is as a winter residence its temperature seldom rising as high as 70 degrees in the summer or falling below the freezing point in winter. In the neighborhood evidence of Roman occupation has been found. After the defeat of the Spanish Armada Don Pedro's galley was brought into Tor Bay and William Prince of Orange landed at Tor Bay in November 1688. Until the middle of the 19th century the place was an insignificant fishing village. In the town are a number of marble polishing works and terra cotta ware of fine quality is manufactured from a deposit of clay nearby.

Loughrea. A town of northern Hungary on the Eipel River, 8 miles southwest of where it breaks through the Carpathian mountains. The town is an active entrepot for the districts trade in salt, but the raising of cattle and the cultivation of vineyards are the chief resources. Loughrea has a large castle on a lofty eminence overlooking the town. Its population is about 10,000.

AUSTRIA HARD HIT BY HORRORS OF WAR

POPULACE UNABLE TO OBTAIN NEWS OF ARMY'S OPERATIONS

FINANCIAL SITUATION ACUTE

Practically Every Man Has Gone To Front and Women Perform Most Arduous Labors

London, Sept. 24.—(By mail.) A news letter received by the Reuter Telegram Company from Vienna reads:

According to well received here from Vienna the Austrian public is writhing in dumb patience for some definite news as to what is really happening in Galicia and along the Servian frontier. Although there is numerous reports that affairs are not going well for Austria the mass of the people still put their faith in Germany and are confident that no matter what happens now the Germans will eventually save the situation.

Vienna, however, dissatisfied with the ambiguous and scant reports from official sources, resorts to discussing the newspaper editorial speculation became known that Russia was making a start in advance in Galicia the Vienna newspaper comment have been most guarded. The editorials deal chiefly with the German invasion in Western Europe thus seeking to divert public attention from the Austrian reverses at home and along the Servian border, but the presence of some Polish refugees from Galicia added to the constant arrival of train loads of wounded has considerably discounted the effects of official reticence.

Commerce Is Paralyzed

Commerce and industry are paralyzed throughout the Dual Monarchy and the stoppage of exports threatens to ruin some of the largest industries, notably the sugar trade. Millions of pounds of sugar are sent annually from Austria to Great Britain, India and other points abroad. Refiners are anxiously endeavoring to find some means of getting their product to England by indirect route. To relieve the stress of the financial situation the government has decided to organize a war credit bank, capital of $1,000,000, besides a number of loan institutions for advancing money without interest in order to carry on various industrial enterprises.

Numerous suggestions have been made for boycotting goods coming from hostile countries, notably England and France. But they have met with scanty support in the most influential commercial circles. The Prague Chamber of Commerce refused to endorse such a proposal saying that it would be quite useless at the present moment, besides being dangerous for Austrian commercial interests later on. Outside Vienna and Budapest the aspect of the whole country is listless and apparently denuded of active men and presents an appearance of strange and oppressive quietness. Great factories are completely shut down, furnaces are out, doors are locked and not even a watchman is visible in the streets. The small towns are deserted save for a few children here and there and there are scarcely any workers in the fields. The few who may be seen are chiefly women and occasionally old men.

The women are now performing the most laborious tasks even to the loading of freight cars. Trains are running on most lines on restricted schedules. There are hardly any passengers and scattered soldiers may be seen guarding stations, bridges or tunnels but bodies of troops even in small numbers are rarely seen. All have gone to the front. Red Cross stations have been set up in the principal towns and depots provided with vast numbers of stretchers are ready to receive the wounded. The well meant hospitality of the public in supplying soldiers with food delicacies and cigarettes is said to have had an unfortunate effect on the peasant soldiers who are not accustomed to such fare. They consumed everything given them greedily and became sick in consequence.

Unemployed Numerous

The question of the unemployed is assuming serious proportions especially in Vienna and Budapest. Many hundreds have been given work in the construction of fortifications along the Danube in the neighborhood of Vienna and hundreds more have been sent from the towns into the country to work in the fields. The Austrian peasants are displeased at seeing many in exploiting the state. They refuse to pay full wages at all and house and feed them miserably. For this they claim from the state four shillings for each worker per day. The government never declined to yield to such exorbitant demands. In Vienna funds are being raised to feed the unemployed, but the demand is constantly increasing since besides the unemployed, the city is crowded with Galicians.

Life in Vienna pursues much the same course as before the war. Cafes and restaurants are filled and some of the theatres are open. The Imperial Court Opera and the Court Theatre will be opened shortly four times weekly, the performers having finally agreed to accept reduced salaries for a period of four months. Over half the street railway employes have been called into the army and in consequence the service has been greatly reduced. Nine hundred men have been engaged but some time must elapse before they are competent to run the trains. A large number of police have also joined the army, but the city is perfectly quiet and orderly. So far there have been no demonstrations against the embassies of the Allied powers. The prices of food are not much above the normal although an advance is reported on the wholesale prices of wheat, barley and rye will affect the cost of flour and bread. The price of petroleum has risen considerably and many refineries have closed down. Boring operations have ceased but exports of Galician oil to Germany have increased because American oil is no longer arriving in its usual quantities.

GERMANY LONG HAD EYED BELGIUM WITH DESIGN

London, Oct. 9.—The Belgian government has issued a Gray Book of correspondence relative to the war. The facts disclosed have been almost completely covered by similar British correspondence, but the interesting revelation is made that in 1911 the Belgian government sought to obtain from the German government a declaration that Germany had no intention of violating Belgian neutrality.

The German chancellor replied that although Germany had no such intention a public declaration to that effect would weaken Germany's military position by reassuring France which could in that case concentrate all its forces on the east.

It was for this reason Belgium argues that no declaration of the kind Belgium sought was made in the Reichstag and this is held to prove that Germany for a long time contemplated a dash through Belgium on France.

It further appears that Belgium made a last attempt to dissuade Germany from its enterprise by sending an intimation to the German government that it was wrong to infer that France had any intention of violating Belgian neutrality and further that even if it did, Belgium would oppose the invaders by a vigorous resistance.

TEXAN IS RESTORED BY MAYR'S WONDERFUL STOMACH REMEDY

Alvarado Man Gets Appetite and Comfort Back After Taking First Dose

T. A. Hensley of Alvarado, Texas, suffered for a long time from derangements of the digestive tract. He had colic attacks and indigestion. His liver was inactive and he was in pain after eating.

He took Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy. From the very first dose it brought swift results. He wrote:

I have taken your treatment for stomach trouble and consider it a Godsend to suffering humanity. I have been suffering from stomach troubles for a long time such as colic attacks, bloating after eating, sick spells, indigestion, constipation and inactive liver and gall stones. Now I do not feel like the same man. I can cheerfully recommend this remedy to all stomach sufferers.

Mr. Hensley's experience is typical of those of the thousands who have taken Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy with such success. The first dose proves.

Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy cleans the digestive tract of mucoid accretions and removes poisonous matter. It brings quick relief to sufferers from stomach, liver and bowel troubles. Many declare it has saved them from dangerous operations and many are sure that it has saved their lives.

The remarkable success of this remedy has caused many imitators, so be cautious. Be sure it's Mayr's. Probably it is known among your own neighbors. Ask them. Go to Fooshee & Lynch and ask about the wonderful results it has been accomplishing in cases they know—or send to Geo. H. Mayr Mfg. Co., 154-156 Whiting St., Chicago, Ill., for free book on stomach ailments and many grateful letters from people who have been restored. Any druggist will tell you it is wonderful. (Advt.)

MRS. JULIA WILLIAMS.

A north bound Fort Worth and Denver freight train was derailed three miles south of town at about 9:30 this morning. Four cars, one loaded with railroad ties, another with lumber and two empties left the track. A relief train was sent out from here. The track was cleared early this afternoon. Passenger trains were detoured between Wichita Falls and Henrietta.

Several light showers of rain fell during Thursday night in this city, the rain being accompanied by a brilliant electrical display. As far as could be learned, the shower was local in its extent.

Declaring that the attitude of Wichita Falls was "unfriendly" to his enterprise, Robert H. Clark, proprietor of the Model Laundry, anounces that he will close down his plant next Saturday and will probably move it to Dallas. The Model is one of the three Wichita Falls laundries that has been involved in the Laundry Workers' strike. It is reported that another Wichita Falls industry is shortly to to move to Dallas on acocunt of labor troubles.

The sales of two residences were announced today, A. L. Huey selling his place to B. M. Bullard, and J. M. Bland selling to Dr. C. R. Hartsook. Real estate men report considerable demand for homes at present, in spite of conditions. Mr. Huey's place is located at 710 Denver and sold for $3,300. Mr. Bland's place at 1805 Tenth street brought $6,50.

Roy Neblett, who has charge of nine surrounding counties in the distributing of the Spalding Manufacturing company's vehicles, is authorized by them to purchase one hundred bales of middling cotton at ten cents a pound in payment of debts that may be owed them. If the farmer is indebted only fifty dollars to them and the bale comes to sixty or sixty five dollars, Mr. Neblett has authority to pay the balance in cash.

COUNTRY'S CREDIT SUFFICIENT TO RELIEVE COTTON SITUATION

Washington, Oct. 9.—President Wilson believes that mobilization of the country's credits will be sufficient to relieve the problem of cotton growers. He said that the organization of federal reserve would help the cotton situation, and referring to efforts to secure the assurance of more money to help cotton men, said he believed there was plenty of money in the country to get it to the growers.

There is no danger of a "cotton corner," in the President's opinion, through efforts of bankers to raise a pool of $150,000,000 to be loaned to cotton planters. Subscriptions to the pool are sure to be so widely distributed he said, as to eliminate that possibility. The President approves the plan for the pool and may see Festus J. Wade, the St. Louis banker who launched the idea, and the other men who go to meet the federal reserve board today to explain the details.

The President believes it is impossible to meet the cotton situation fully because the war in Europe is responsible for it, and the market for cotton will be restricted until the war is ended. He declared the crisis had not come yet, because, except in Texas, the cotton crop had not been gathered yet.

CALLS ON PEOPLE OF MEXICO TO RISE AND OUST CARRANZA

IS CHARGED WITH ABSOLUTISM

Document Asks For Calling of Election To Make Needed Reforms Possible

San Antonio, Texas, Oct. --Manifestos issued by General Francisco Villa Sept. 30 at Chihuahua City, calling on the Mexican nation to renounce Governor Venustiano Carranza and, if necessary, force him out of Mexican politics by force of arms, were brought to San Antonio by a secret emissary of Governor Carranza. Without disclosing his identity, the bearer of the manifestos allowed several of them to be distributed here.

The manifesto makes a savage attack on Carranza, asserting he has taken to himself the three powers of constitution of Mexico—the executive, the judicial and the legislative—and has conducted the government, since his arrival at Mexico City, in a manner to demonstrate he proposes to usurp all power and make himself a despot. He has, as charged, authorized violation of private citizens guaranteed by the constitutionalists, has caused anarchy in the City of Mexico and adjacent territory and, finally, has caused an issue of 130,000,000 pesos without adequate security back of the money.

The manifesto sets forth that the army division of the north has lost concern in Carranza, who, it says, has failed to comply with the plan of Guadalupe in that he has declined to accept the title of president ad interim but [illegible] continued to style himself first [illegible] of the constitutionalist army in charge of the executive power.

Would Remain in Power.

"Upon taking possession of the City of Mexico," reads the manifesto, which is in Spanish, "Senor Carranza began to reveal, in a manner to leave no doubt, his intentions to remain in power for an indefinite period and to govern with an absolutism which no other government has possessed in our country."

The manifesto closes with an urgent invitation to Mexicans to renounce Carranza and to join the division of the north in bringing about fulfillment of the original plan. The Mexicans are asked:

"First, to renounce Venustiano Carranza as first chief, in charge of the constitutionalist power of the nation.

"Second, to unify the division of the north, contributing in the most efficacious form toward the separation of Venustiano Carranza from the post. Immediately after thus renouncing Carranza, the generals in command of forces shall designate a non-military man who will hold the post of president ad interim of the republic, and who will call elections as soon as possible in order that constitutional order may be reestablished and the economic social reforms of the revolution be brought about."

The document closes with the statement that the division of the north is ready to establish order and tranquility in whatever territory it may now occupy or will occupy, respecting life and property, whether they be of native or foreign character.

"It is a matter of supreme sorrow to me that the Mexican people are called on to make a new sacrifice in order to realize their ideals," say the document. "But I have the security that every honorable Mexican will know that unless this new movement is made there will be a loss wholly of the benefits for which they have fought and, instead, there will be erected a dictatorship worse than any we have had in history."

STUDENT'S PHYSICAL NEEDS NOT BEING OVERLOOKED

Results Are Shown In Successful Records of Athletic Teams During Last Session

University Station, Oct. 7.—The responsibility for the physical development of students in the University of Texas rests upon the department of physical training. Every male freshman entering the University must furnish the department with a "personal history blanak" properly filled out, which gives complete information concerning the physical make-up of the individual who is the subject of the same. He then undergoes a medical examination which describes his present physical condition accurately and in detail, so that any abnormal or dangerous condition can be made the subject of conference with the athletic directors, and the proper exercises prescribed for. The normal students are given the exercises calculated best to produce an all round, healthful, symetrical physical development.

The prime object of the department is not to produce athletes, but to develop large numbers of strong, clear-headed, healthy students. This regime consistency followed, makes unnecessary any special effort to secure athletes. They spring up naturally from among the thousands of more students engaging each year in athletic exercises at the University. As an illustration of what this system has done for the athletic teams of the University of Texas, the record of last season is illuminating.

The University football team sustained but one defeat, and that at the hands of a team which defeated West Point and was considered among the five strongest teams of the whole country. The University basket ball and soccer teams were undefeated, and champions of the Southwest. The University tennis team came out of a hard season champion of the Southwest, and to this distinction added also the scalps of Illinois and Missouri Universities. In track athletics, the University of Texas team was victor over the team holding the Southern championship. University wrestlers defeated the best wrestlers of the University of Nebraska, which institution was champion of the Missouri Valley Conference. The baseball team took twenty-three straight victories from college teams, thus breaking the world's collegiate record for straight victories. In short, the University teams won distinction in every competitive test they entered.

Galveston—The largest single day's export business recorded at this port in 1914 was one day last week, when six steamers with a combined cargo of cotton and wheat, valued at $1,500,000 left this city for foreign countries. The combined produce carried by the six ships consisted of 25,325 bales of cotton, valued at $1,093,620 and 589,000 bushels of wheat with a value of $639,135. It was all Texas products.

Dallas—With the Texas State Fair not more than a week off, the management is rapidly whipping everything into shape for the coming event, which promises to outstrip any previous exhibition both in attendance and displays.

At The Theaters

The Lydia Margaret

Leslie Turston, the xylophone girl, and Otto and Olivia, juggling comiques opened the new vaudeville bill last night at the Lydia Margaret. Mis Thurston possess an unusually pleasing stage appearance and is in addition capable of drawing marvelous harmony from her instrument. The juggling and novelty act is good To night's picture program is made up of a three-part drama, "The Return of the Twins Double," featuring Francis Ford and Grace Cunard

After a short but keenly felt absence from the Universal's screen, Grace Cunard and Francis Ford, the great team who did so much to make the "Lucille Love" serial a huge success, are returning They have been away on a vacation up in the New England states after long months of strenuous work But you have missed them as evidenced by the unlimited number of inquiries that have been pouring into the Universal offices Miss Cunard and Mr. Ford are a hard pair to beat: their productions, written by Miss Cunard, and directed by Mr. Ford, are always marked with freshness and originality.

Of course, you remember the wonderful series of detective pictures revolving about "My Lady Raffles," who resembled to amarked degree two other girls, twins, and the famous detecive, Phil Kelley In the last picture of this series the cunning girl crook had been outwitted by the detective, Kelley, and sent to the penitentiary to serve a five-year sentence for robbery At the opening of the present picture "My Lady Raffles" is being conducted to the penitentiary, handcuffed to a guard of the prison; and as the train races along the girl, who has defeated justice so many times, considers herself beaten. But there is something the human mind cannot guard against. It is the element of chance which results in the liberating fo law-breakers as often as it does in the capturing of them

A more appropriate play could not have been chosen for the return of this splendid pair of artists than "The Return of the Twins' Double." Topping all the others in the series, it abounds in cleverly wrought situations, surprising complications and superb heart-interest unvarnished with the conventional makeshifts and trite sentiment common to the usual detective play.

The Majestic.

"Mr Barnes of New York," six parts, featuring Maurice Costello, is shown today Mr. Barnes of New York, a wealthy American traveling in Europe, meets Count Musso Danella, who invites the American to visit his estate in Corsica. While there, Barnes meets Marini Paoli, the count's ward, who is anxiously awaiting the return of her brother, Antonio, an officer in the service of France. A few days later Barnes falls in an attempt to prevent a duel between Antonio and an English officer, who kills Antonio and leaves behind a revolver borrowed from a brother officer Marini and the Count arrive after the English officer had boarded his ship, Marini swearing vengeance against her brother's unknown slayer.

In her search for the English officer Marini, the Count and Tomasso, her foster father, go to Egypt. They arrive after the bombardment of Alexandria, in July, 1882, and their search takes them even into the hospitals filled with the wounded. There Marina meets Lieutenant Gerald Anstruther, who has been badly injured, and whom she nurses back to health. Later they fall in love.

In the meantime Barnes meets and falls in love with Lieutenant Austruder's sister, Enid. In Monte Carlo Barnes and Enid meet Marina. Enid learning that Marina and her brother are engaged. Business takes Barnes to London. While he is gone, the Count from Gibraltar advises Marina that he has found her brother's slayer. His suspicions are founded on the fact that the revolver with which Antonio was killed is the property of Lieutenant Anstruthers The Count does not know that Marina is engaged to the English officer

The Count succeeds in bringing the Lieutenant to Monte Carlo. Marina, through her love, has abandoned her vendetta, and the Count through jealousy determines to permit Marina to marry the Lieutenant before he tells her that it is the Lieutenant whom she seeks to destroy. Barnes in London learns of the conditions, and knowing Lieutenant Anstruthers to be guiltless, hastily returns to Corsica. He arrives a few hours after the wedding.

The Count tells Marina that she has married her brother's slayer and endeavors to have her kill her husband She refuses, whereupon Tomasso, the foster father, proceeded to carry out the vendetta. Through a mistake, Tomasso kills the Count instead, and Barnes arrives just in time to explain everything, recalls Marina to her husband's love, thus preventing further bloodshed He also succeeds in his own love affair with Enid

The Victoria.

"The Sheriff's Sister," a two-part Broncho, and "Gontran, a Snake Charmer," are pictures here today. The bill is completed by "Lodgings for the Night," an American, featuring Charlotte Burton and Ed Coxen

The Empress.

"The Mariner's Compass," a story of the sea with an unusual amount of heart interest involved, is the offering here today. A benefit for the Knights and Ladies of Security is being given.

The Gem.

A two-part drama, "Honor Redeemed," a Vitagraph comedy, "Second Sight," and the Hearst-Selig News Pictorial make up the variety program here today.

FEW AUTOMOBILES HERE EIGHT YEARS AGO

The registration this week of Wichita county's 1000th automobile recalls the arrival here about eight years ago of the first cars to be brought to this city Registration of automobiles did not begin here until July 12, 1907, T B. Noble being No. 1. Some time previous to that, however, A. S. Fonville had brought the first machine here, an Olds While it could hardly be considered much of a machine these days, it was quite some car for those days and was the wonder of the countryside J B. Marlow soon afterward brought a Buick from Enid, Okla., and soon there were about a dozen Buicks here, Wiley Blair having taken the agency C. W. Bean secured the Jackson agency and sold several cars.

Twenty-nine cars were registered in July, 1907 and no more new machines arrived, judging from the records in the county clerk's office, until 1908. During that year six cars were registered In 1909 business picked up some, seventeen cars being sold here. That many are now sold in one week sometimes now In 1910 fifty-three cars arrived and in 1911, ninety new ones were registered By the end of 1912 the number had increased to 320 and in 1913, 294 more were sold This year's number will probably be over 400, it already being over 360

MERCHANTS WILL ALLOW NO CARDS IN WINDOWS

Church, Lodge, Union and Other Advertisements Barred—Directors' Action Ratified

Church societies, lodge, lyceum and other cards will be barred from the display windows of Wichita Falls merchants in the future as the result of a resolution adopted at a member ship meeting of the Wichita Falls Retail Merchants' Association Thursday afternoon, the merchants taking the position that their windows should not be used for anything else than their own advertising While no question was raised on this point it is not the understanding that the action taken yesterday has any reference to the union membership cards.

At the meeting yesterday the action of the directors in declaring the neutrality of the Association in reference to the Union Laundry Workers strike was ratified.

MANY SMALL INSURANCE COMPANIES ARE FORMED

Present Decade One of Unusual Activity in This Line, Says Speaker At Dallas

By Associated Press

Dallas, Texas, Oct. 9.—The period between 1910 and 1920 will be known in the future as the "building decade of the comparatively small life insurance companies," according to J. B. Reynolds of Kansas City, president of a life insurance company with headquarters there. Mr. Reynolds addressed the American Life Convention here today on "Western and Southern Life Insurance Companies," describing the field and methods of life insurance companies in the west and south, and discussing their development and prospects.

While he said many companies were organized before 1900, Mr. Reynolds asserted the period between 1900 and 1910 was known as the "organization decade," but that today the trend of life insurance business was toward building up companies already organized, rather than toward organization of so many new ones.

To the influence of the western and southern companies Mr. Reynolds ascribed the "general introduction of the preliminary term method of valuation," which he said "fixes a standard of solvency, prevents waste of funds and insures solvency, and which he said had been recognized by law in all states save Massachusetts.

Curtailment of policy restrictions in regard to place of residence, travel and manner of death, so that the general clause now in use is "This policy is absolutely free from conditions as to residence occupation travel, time or place of death," is due to smaller companies, asserted the speaker.

Mr. Reynolds also praised the smaller companies as tending to "keep money in circulation throughout the country and prevent tying up in one locality," and asserted the federal government recognized the need for this in establishing a number of reserve banks instead of one central bank.

FIRE PREVENTION DAY IS OBSERVED IN TEXAS

By Associated Press

Austin, Texas, Oct. 9.—By proclamation of Governor Colquitt, this is "fire prevention day" throughout Texas, and is being observed in many towns by public school exercises, women's club meetings and other ways to impress the importance of fire prevention on the public. The governor in his proclamation urged all property owners to give personal attention to the removal of trash and debris from their premises to minimize in practical way the danger of fire. In this connection it was also urged to observe the day as "clean up" day.

SUBSCRIPTIONS STARTED FOR "UNION" LAUNDRY

$2500 Pledged at Mass Meeting of Union Men at Court House Friday Night

Subscriptions to the amount of $2500 toward the capital to establish a union laundry plant in Wichita Falls were pledged at last night's mass meeting of union men at the court house. The meeting was well attended and considerable enthusiasm was manifested. Committees were appointed to canvass the union men of the city to secure subscriptions of the remainder of the sum necessary. It is estimated that about $6,000 will be required.

HOUSE KILLS GOVERNOR'S BANK OF TEXAS BILL

Austin, Texas, Oct. 9.—At 6:45 o'clock last night the lower house refused to engross the Bank of Texas bill by a vote of 51 to 35, with six members being paired and one present and not voting. When the result was announced there was great applause and some of the members began singing "America."

The vote on engrossment came after short shift had been made of nearly a dozen amendments, those of any material moment being defeated in short order, and a number of purely corrective amendments being adopted by unanimous consent. An amendment sent up by Bonner striking out the school fund from the capital stock was defeated by a vote of 77 to 44. The Humphrey amendment, which would have killed the bill, by requiring nearly $40,000,000 from the nine directors, was killed by the opponents of the bill in order that the amendments offered by the friends of the bill might be fairly voted on.

RENTAL BROKER'S OFFICE

There are a great many houses in Wichita Falls for rent, but there are a greater number of people in Wichita Falls and people coming in every day who want to rent them, so it is up to some one to get the rentor and rentee together, so have opened up a Rental Broker's office at 626 Indiana avenue, phone 63 for this especial purpose.

Should you have a house or houses for rent, will appreciate your calling me up and I will get your list, or should you want to rent a nice place in the most desirable part of the city, conveniently located to car line and school kindly phone 63 or call at 626 Indiana avenue.

Grodno—The capital of a government of the same name in Russia, 49 miles east of the southeasternmost point of East Prussia, on the railway line from Petrograd to Warsaw, 158 miles northeast of the latter place The town began its existence under difficult circumstances, being almost entirely destroyed by the Mongols in 1241 and by the Teutonic Knights in 1284 and again in 1391. The second partition of Poland was signed here in 1793, and Stanislaus Poniatowski resigned the Polish crown in 179. The town's population in 1910 was 50,207 It manufactures spirits, machinery, candles, tobacco, soap, vehicles and firearms.

Windau—A Russian port on the Baltic Sea, at the mouth of the Windau River, 60 miles east of north of the coast city Libau. The population of the town is about 10,000, which is swelled in the summer because of its excellent bathing facilities It is one of the oldest towns of western Russia and has an active trade in grain, flax, hemp and timber The town also possesses a castle built in 1290

Serie—A town of Russian Poland, 23 miles northeast of Seyne, near a lake which is the headwater of the Serreyka, an affluent of the Niemen. The town has a population of approximately 7,000 people who are engaged in lumbering and minor manufacturing pursuits. It was formerly the capital of the important seignory of the princes of Radziwill

A cousin of Mrs. R. T. Bolyn of this city is among the citizens of Antwerp which is now besieged by the Germans This cousin is Mrs. Louise von Rossen. The family owns a flour mill which was taken over by the government soon after the beginning of the war Mrs. von Rossen, although of German descent, is a fully naturalized and patriotic citizen of Belgium

In a recent letter to relatives here she characterizes the German treatment of the Belgian non-combatants in the bitterest terms.

A PRESCRIPTION

When sickness invades your home you call a physician, he examines the patient and leaves a prescription for the remedies that experience has taught him are indicated in the trouble at hand. This prescription is written in Latin, the universal language of medicine in order that its names may never change and that it may be understood equally well by the pharmacists of every nation in the world. A prescription may seem a simple thing to you that may be dispensed by anybody like filling a grocery order, yet the laws of Texas require years of experience and a grilling examination of every prescriptionist who practices within her borders. A grave responsibility settles itself about the shoulders of the man who prepares the medicine for those who are fighting for their lives. We are prescription specialists. Experience, knowledge dug from the hard rocks of passings years and absolute honesty are the inducements we offer you for your prescription business.

FIRELIGHT MEMORIES

Do you remember the once happy faces that lingered round the dear old fireside? Can you call to mind the smiling faces that once greeted you, and with the vision there comes a flood of tender memories. Are you fortunate enough to have those dear ones with you still? Or, have they long since passed away? If so, have you done wour full duty in beautifying their last resting place in such a way that you are proud of it? Or, does your mind recall to you the negligence and forgetfulness so common to the human race? "Our hearts are full of good intentions, but our deeds fail to show them"

Why not awake from your memories to deeds of pleasant labor? We will help you to be fully satisfied.
